However it has been observed that many modules are not being implemented in the real time mode although from time to time, it has been informed to the module owners through emails and meetings.

It is again reminded to all module owners who are looking after various functions of University, to implement their respective modules into real time (live) mode. For any issue/ difficulty in the implementation part, the module owners can contact the GGV Samarth Team. However the Samarth Team at GGV will start inviting module owners one by one to discuss and resolve issues if any to implement their respective modules.
