

About the Book

The present volume of the book is in search for identifying Indian Economy's need of being 'Aatmanirbhar (Self-reliant)' and the opportunities and challenges it has to face to become meaningful in global landscape. The study also becomes important in current global search for 'China+1' framework of western countries and chances of India to fit in this framework. If this aatmanirbharta is achieved, Indian manufacturing sector will also start contributing to the GDP of the economy at greater extent and it will boost the prospects of the country to elevate its position from 'Third-World Country' to 'Near Developed Country' in the eyes of the World. The book encompasses 16 well-thought research papers in identifying numerous difficulties and their possible remedies for its well functioning and attaining near-term targets. Chapters in this volume also talks about certain sectors of economy like, MSMEs, Tax Implications, Ease of Doing Business, Blue Revolution, Technology driven Government services, and on well performing IT sector and their prospects of achieving self-sufficiency with right mix of policy and its implementation. The content is evenly arranged for better reading experience and to cater the need of readers from various fields of studies.
