

REFRESHER COURSE ON HUMAN RIGHTS (ID)

(16th September to 5th October 2013)

Organized by UGC-Academic Staff College and Department of Social Work,
Guru Ghasidas Vishwavidyalaya, Bilaspur (C.G.) 495 009

Introduction:

The human rights movement represents a historical journey that began with the institutionalization of political and social orders. The concept of human rights is dynamic, changing as society evolves. The "first generation" rights call on governments not to interfere with the exercise of civil and political rights and individual liberties. "Second generation" rights place a duty on governments to guarantee economic, social, and cultural rights. "Third generation" rights include the right to self-determination of peoples rather than individuals, to sovereignty over their country's natural wealth, and to development and special protection of disadvantaged groups.

The Indian education system has only recently begun to promote human rights. The reason is that the teaching and learning of human rights in India in the 1960s and early 1970s were linked to the international ethos.

Human rights studies in India became more important as increasing violations of human rights, cases of custodial violence, mass detentions without trial, bonded and child labour, and environmental degradation and the like were brought to the public's attention by NGOs, the media, and public interest litigators. The work of the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) became more high-profile, contributing to this new ethos. There is growing need for improving the knowledge base of teachers of social sciences in colleges/University to impart quality education. In this regard, UGC, New Delhi has approved a Refresher Course to Academic Staff College, GGV, Bilaspur for organizing such auspicious and relevant training programme.
