Q2. a) The writer's view on food and eating is in sharp contrast to what the doctors and health gurus believe in. I agree with the writer because even though the people in the present time are so health conscious and aware of health foods, yet life style diseases are on the increase. We are more at risk of facing an early death because of stress, anxiety, tension and sedentary life style than food habits. If not agree then give your comments.

b) The word 'transfigure' has been used repeatedly by the poet in every stanza. The repetitive use of the word signifies the anguish and pain of the old man, and his inability to accept his present situation. The word also reveals the anger and bitterness of the loss of his youth due to time.

Q3. a) The stability of the married life in the country where the story takes place is not very good. This fact is evident from the shopkeeper's description of the incident wherein an army officer kills his wife's lover and is convicted and sent to Siberia. The shopkeeper further refers to the loss of morals among the people for whom having an affair with another's wife is as much in fashion as smoking someone's cigar or reading someone's books. Every person in the country is guilty of breaking the tenth commandment.

b) The armada in the second stanza represents the innumerable hopes, desires and dreams we yearn for in life while the solitary ship in the final stanza signifies the dark, eternal silence of death. The significance of the both the images for the people who have been waiting eagerly are that they finally come to terms with the reality of life. Men are never satisfied in life with what they have but always run after desires that seldom get fulfilled. All these expected moments of hopes are but illusions and there is only one eternal moment of truth that seeks us, which is death.
